

GIGI COULSON, M.S.

SCHOLAR, HISTORIAN, COSTUMER

ABOUT GIGI

Gigi creates educational lectures and experiences that are immersive, research-based, and rooted in cultural heritage. Her audience does not simply hear about history, they engage with historical dress, material culture, local experts, landscapes, foodways, cultural stories, vendors, and community.

She is seeking partnerships to expand opportunities in speaking, publishing, travel, media, educational programming, partnerships, and public-facing scholarship. Her work offers a distinctive bridge between rigorous historical research, inclusive public humanities, cultural heritage travel, and highly visual historical costuming content.

WORK WITH ME

I am a rare public scholar whose work combines historical interpretation, cultural heritage travel, inclusive public history, and visually compelling historical costuming.

The platform I created reaches a specialized audience of historically engaged learners, makers, scholars, and cultural heritage travelers. Our community values research, inclusion, global history, historical dress, and immersive educational experiences.
